Bold Attempt at Robbery.

A bank messenger in Berlin had an exciting time of it, recently, while riding in a taxicab with one of the bank's clerks. The incident occurred in broad daylight, in a leading thoroughfare of the German capital. The clerk, with no warning, suddenly attacked the messenger, producing a noose of wire, with which he attempted to strangle his companion. The messenger, however, succeeded in freeing himself from the other's grasp, and pulling down the window in the cab, shouted for help. The chauffeur, alarmed by his cries, stopped the cab and came to his assistance, while a number of constables hurrying up secured the assailant. The bank messenger had a considerable sum of money in his possession, and the clerk admitted to the police that he had hoped to secure it, having planned the attack a long time ago.

Cautious in Their Answers.

For non-committal brevity of speech, commend us to the Yankee lord of the soil. One such who was obliged to make a physician's daily visits, had an unvarying answer to the question, "How do you feel today?" "Well," he would reply, showing as little interest in the subject as possible. "I ain't no wuss." Further than that he wished to say nothing, and it took the cunning of a serpent to discover his real feelings. A man who was knocked down in the street by a snow-blast was asked by a sympathizing crowd with condolence and question, "Did it hurt you?" Inquired one of his rescuers, as he brushed the snow from the clothes of the well-powdered victim. "Well," was the cautious answer, "It ain't done no good."

Wide Scotch Liddle.

A Scotch lad had his leg injured at a factory, and was treated for some time by the doctor without much favorable result. His mother had great faith in a local bone-setter, and went for her son to go to him; but the boy objected, preferring, as he said, the "reglar faculty." Finally, however, he yielded to his mother's persuasions and was taken to the town where the famous bone-setter resided. The leg was duly examined, and it was found necessary to pull it very severely, in order "to get the bone in," as the quack expressed it. The patient howled in agony, but at last the bone was "got in," and he was bidden to go home. In a few days he would be all right, and could resume work. "Didn't he do it well?" said the joyous old lady, as they started homeward. "Yes, he did, mother," said the lad, "he pulled it well; but I was a sic a fool as to gie him the sair leg!"

Antiquity of Hymns.

While hymns as we know them today are a comparatively recent innovation in church services, they are a very ancient institution and existed long before the Christian era. Many important collections of hymns date back to about five hundred years before Christ, though of course hymns existed long before that period. Among the collections which have come down to us from then are the Sanskrit "Rig-Veda," a Chinese "Book of Odes," the "Buddhist Hymns," the Grecian "Homeric Hymns" and the "Odes of Pindar." The Latin Hymns, or hymns of the western church, date from the fourth to the twentieth centuries, while the "Lutheran Chorales" date from the sixteenth century. The hymns which play so prominent a part in the services of the modern Protestant churches were not in wide general use until about 1860.—Elude.

Practical Aid for the Poor.

Miss Elizabeth Ross has been appointed manager of the household relief office, which has just been established in Jamaica Plain, Mass., by the Women's Municipal League. The enterprise is patterned after the Brattleboro Mutual Aid Association, a neighborhood service which affords mutual aid for the sick. The plan is to furnish at cost competent nurses to educate people along sanitary lines and to furnish employment for women and girls competent as household helpers.

Cosmopolitan London.

A man with nothing useful to do took a walk on Aldwych and Kingsway the other day and counted noses. As a result he writes to a newspaper exploiting the cosmopolitanism of London.

He says that in 15 minutes he encountered: One Arab in flowing burnous and white turban, two Turks in frock coats and turbans, seven obvious Americans and probably more who were not obvious, a couple of Danes wearing Alexandra Day roses and talking volubly in their native tongue; a lazar; two Indian students with gold spectacles; an alert Japanese.—New York Sun.
